HOW THE HOME TEAM TOOK THE RICHMONDS INTO CAMP.

An Old Washington Boy on the Diamond... Praise for the Local Players Frize-Fight Talk Joe Fielden's

The Washington Club yesterday took the Richmonds into camp to the tune of 20 to 0, It was a well-played game, however, notwithstanding the large score, and there was any number of brilliant plays. The Virginia club had previously beaten the Baltimores, and It was expected that the game would be closely contested. The local men jumped into the lead from the start, and by timely batting and the loose fielding of their opponents piled up a score that was heart-breaking. If the Baltimore team had to succumb to the Richmonds it is not in it so far as the Washingtons are concerned. Jordan made a remarkable running catch of a long fly in the third inning, taking it in on the dead run. Bader also made a pretty catch. The batting of O'Brien, who made five hits, was one of the fea-tures of the game. To-day the same teams play, and a good game may be

George Kelly, who pitched for the Richmonds yesterday, is an old Washington boy. He has always been crazy to play professional ball, and some years ago was playing on the amateur league here. His excellent all around playing attracted the attention of a number who were interested in the game—the writer among the number—and an engagement was secured for him on the Troy, N. Y., team. That team played its first game against the Phillies and the new uniforms were delivered by Reach in the morning. There was something the matter with the shoes Kelly received and he hied himself to Reach's store in no very amiable mood. Walking in with the air of an empero he threw down the kangaroos and declared himself thusly: "Them shoes don't go. I'm a ball player, I am, and my name's Kelly, and when I say I want a thing I want it, and don't you forget it." And before the astonished clerk could recover, Kelly was out of the store and well on his way to the

The excellent playing of the home team is making it hosts of friends. Nothing but praise can be said of the younsters, and the opinion seems to be general that it is a better nine even than this city ever had in the League. But wait until the men have learned each other's ways and get to playing together. If they don't astonish some of the old fogies who think the League contains the quintessence of ball play-ing it will be funny. The team is bound to be a second edition of the St. Louis Brown's if it is kept together.

Yesterday's games resulted as follows: New York (N. L.), 6; Newark, (A. L.), 2. Crescent Athletics, 6; Brooklyn (P. L.), 13. Brooklyn (N. L.), 8; Metropolitan, 3 Philadelphia, 5; Athletics, 3. St. Louis, 9; Cincinnati, 4. Chicago (P. L.), 4; Pittsburg, (P. L.), 2. Boston (N. L.), 9; Wilmington, 0.

The benefit to Joe Fielden, the English pugilist, at Academy Hall, Georgetown, was anything but satisfactory to the beneficiary, for he came within an see of being knocked out in a bout with soft gloves with Nally, with whom he wound up. Had it not been for the intervention of the police Fielden would have fared a great deal worse than he did. Nally knocked him down several times and had the best of the bout all the way through. When Fielden went down the last time he was pretty groggy, and even if the police had not interfered it is doubtful whether he would have continued the fight. The result may be a match between the men, although after last night's experi-ence it is doubtful whether Fielden desires any more of Nally's medicine Nally has his money posted at 314 Fleventh street for a finish fight with Fielden or any other light-weight.

True to his declaration, Billy Mc-Millan did not participate in Fielden's benefit last night. His friends propose to give him a rousing benefit on Thursday night, at which all the prominent professionals in the city will be present.

Big Jim Corbett, the Californian, has added new laurels to the wreath of pugilistic fame. Last night he easily defeated Dominick McCaffrey in three rounds and is now waiting for a go at the champion. He very foolishly offered to give Sultivan the entire receipts of the house if he (Corbett) could not best him in four rounds. That ought to be an easy mark for John L. While Cor-bett may be, and undoubtedly is, a good one, the man has not yet made his appearance who can best Sallivan in four rounds, or double that number.

The managers of the Myers-Hopper fight, which is to take place near this city on the 24th, are endeavoring to change the date, as it will conflict with the Northridge McMillan mill. There is a probability however that both fights may take place in the same ring.

Trouble Among Neighbors

There has been not a very friendly feeling between George Seaman and W. S. Branson, who are neighbors on the Seventh-street road. They were both in the Police Court to-day, charged with threats, and the Judge placed them both under $200 bonds to keep the peace.

Crushed By the Bumpers. Patrick McLaughlin, an employe of the Pennsylvania Railway Company, was quite seriously injured yesterday evening while coupling cars on Dela-ware avenue, between P and G streets. He was removed to the Providence Hospital in the police ambulance, where he will have to remain for some time.

OPRETTY WELL, I THANK YOU.

The District of Columbia is Ninety-Nine Years Old To-Day, According to the count made by the Board of Trade the District of Columbia is to-day 90 years old. The Board recently fixed April 15, 1791, as the day upon which the District became a separate entirety and decided to open the celebration of its centennial on that day next year. The committee of the board having charge of the proposed celebration is composed of Messrs. E. Kurtz Johnson, George Truesdell, A. T. Britton, Beriah Wilkins, B. H.

Warner, C. S. Noyes and J. M. Wilson.
The act of Congress establishing the National Capital within a district not exceeding ten miles square was approved July 16, 1790. General Wasnington's first proclamation as to the lo-cation of the ten miles square was made from Philadelphia January 24, 1791, and his second proclamation, changing the boundaries, was issued from Georgetown on the 30th of March, By the first of these proclama tions Alexandria was excluded and the southwest line of the District was made by a line including all the Maryland cession and such part of the Virginia cession as should lie "above a line to be run from a point of land forming the upper cape of the mouth of the Eastern Branch due southwest." Under this proclamation nearly all of Alexandria County and the town of Alexandria were left out of the District; but under the second proclamation the whole of the ten miles square was established.

THE POLICE COURT DUNGEON.

The Horrors Which Unfortunate Law-Breakers Have to Endure.

Secretary of the Treasury.

The famous, or rather infamous 'black hold of Calcutta," could not have been more horrible than is the reeking, slimy, gloomy aperature in the wall, known as the Police Court dungeon. The horrible hole is situated under the southeast corner of the Police Court building. It is considerably below the surface of the earth and is dark and gruesome on the brightest and most suppy days. It is entirely without ventilation, except a narrow grated doorway, which is nearly always choked up with half-suffocated prisoners trying to get a breath of fresh air or to catch a glimpse of daylight. The interior of this den of horrors is not only dark, but it is likewise damp. It is scarcely more than six feet wide by about twelve deep, and has an iron bench extending around the walls for the prisoners to

Often, and especially on Monday, which is a big day for the Court, from thirty to forty-five unfortunates are crowded into this den and are compelled to remain until adjournment, late in the afternoon, when they are hustled into the "Black Maria" and carted off to the jail or workhouse. By the time the "Maria" arrives the atmosphere of the dungeon is poisoned by the many breaths and heavy from dampness, while the stone flooring is flooded with tobacco juice and water.

Many prisoners have fainted from these noxious effects, and it is not an uncommon thing to see them brought out into the adjoining hallway sick from the effects of their confinement in the black hole.

The grand jury, in a late report, commented rather forcibly on these facts, but the same state of affairs continue to exist. The continuance of such a foul place under a "temple of justice" and at the capital of a great civilized nation is a crying disgrace. It would put to shame even the hardened minions of the Czar of Russia or the Emperor of China. THE CRITIC gests that this is a splendid field for philanthropists to operate in.

LADIES' GOOD WORK

Helping the Parish Building Fund of St. Paul's Church,

The ladies of St. Paul's Church, on Twenty-third street, are engaged in the laudable undertaking of raising funds to be devoted to the parish building fund, and to day gave a luncheon at Masonic Temple in aid of the charity. The various tables were well patronized and quite a handsome sum realized. To night a musical and literary en-tertainment will be given and will be participated in by Miss Snowden of Baltimore, Mrs. Coryall of this city and a quartette and trio from the church choir. A farce entitled "A Box of Monkeys" will also be presented.

A Juvenile Thief,

A carpenter named A. H. Crowell, who was engaged at work on a house on Seventh street, near the Boundary, carclessly hung his vest up on a nail in the scaffolding, in the pocket of which was his gold watch. When he quit work he found that the time-piece was missing. He reported the matter to the police and they shortly afterward found 10-year-old colored boy with the watch in his possession.

The Greenapples Try to Work a Shrewd and Fraudulent Game, Detectives Carter, Raff and Block have for some days been working on an important case, which culminated in the arrest yesterday afternoon of Mr. Isaac Greenapple and his wife Rosa, who for some time past have been living at No. 471 C street southwest, The account of the fraud perpetrated by these two persons is full of interest. It seems that about a month ago they rented and occupied the C-street house, and, at the same time, had their furniture insured for $1,000 with Mr. Simon Wolfe. On Sunday morning, April 6, the house was found to be on fire, but, through the prompt work of the fire de-partment, the fire did not result disas-

On the Monday morning following the fire Greenapple and his wife made an immediate demand for the insurance money and Mr. Wolfe told them they could have it as soon as the adjuster could appraise the damage. It was found that the amount was so small that Mr. Wolfe was disposed to settle immediately, and would have done so had not the officers told him to delay payment until an investigation could be

Two witnesses, Chaskiel Flaumen-baum and Simon Swartz, who were rooming in the house at the time of the fire, gave information that led to the arrest of the Greenapples. On the Sunday night on which the fire started Flaumenbaum, who was sleeping on the upper floor, was awakened by a feeling of suffocation, and, hearing a a noise in the lower part of the house, started down to investigate. The hall-way was filled with smoke and Green-apple and his wife were just coming un stairs. We Greenwale who saw up stairs. Mr. Greenappie, who say Flaumenbaum crouching in the hall-way, seized him by the throat and threatened to kill him if he gave an alarm. He also demanded that he stairs. Mr. Greenapple, who saw Afterwards, however, he took Swartz into his confidence, and the latter divulged what he knew to Greenapple.

The latter became frightened and volunteered to buy them both tickets to New York and afterward send them money to go to Canada with. They accepted the proposition, and were on their way to the depot, when they were apprehended and locked up in the Sixto recinct station as witnesses.

Detectives Raff and Block then went to arrest Mr. Greenapple, but he was not at home. His wife came from the house shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and Mr. Raff, who had been "shadowing" the place, followed her.
At the corner of Pennsylvania avenue and Ninth street. She took a belt-line car and went north. Mr. Raff summoned a furniture wagon and, getting on the seat with the driver, followed the car. Mrs. Greenapple got out and went into a store on I street, near Thirteenth, where Mr. Raff came to the conclusion her husband was concealed. The patrol wagon was sent for and both Isaac and Rosa were arrested and taken to the First Precinct station house. It was expected that the Greenappl ase would come up before Judge Miller to-day, but the defense were not prepared for examination and a coninuance was granted until to-morrow LIQUOR LICENSES.

THE THIMBLE'S HISTORY,

Origin Shrouded in Mystery-A Legend

of St. Hildegard, From the St. Louis Post-Disputch Like the origin of many useful inventions, which is lost in the darkness of past ages, the history of the thimble is shrouded in uncertainty. The first record of it is found in the twelfth century. It is very brief, mentioning only its name. At that time lived St. Hilde-gard, a woman highly regarded, not only for her piety but also her extraor dinary learning.

One of her writings contains a combination of 900 words translated into a strange, unknown language, which today is regarded as the first attempt ever made to establish "the language of the world," or a universal language. Among these words is found the word "vingerhuth" (thimble), called "ziriskanz" in this peculiar translation. This group of words mentions many articles of daily use, so that it is proper to infer that the thimble was well known to the

This custom was prevalent mostly in England, and to this emblem of womanly diligence should have been added the thingle layer. should have been added the thimble in order to transmit to posterity its earliest shape. However, it is reasonable to presume that it was the same as that of the bronze cast thimble, which is pre-served in the Museum of Darmstadt.

This thimble was found in 1848 dur ing exeavations made along the high way to the Castle of Tannenberg. Thi castle had been destroyed in 1390 by reason of the depredations of the Knights of Tannenberg, and, as it never rebuilt, it is evident that the thimble of those days was not unlike in form to the thimble of modern times

A Good Tone Apparent and the List Well Maintained, There was a good tone apparent in the market for local stocks yesterday, and though the transactions were not large the prices throughout the whole with few exceptions, were well maintained

Cotumbia Bank stock showed increasing strength and twenty-eight shares were taken at the best price marked since the reinstatement of Mr. Warner to the presidency. Previous to his re-election fifteen shares of the stock sold for 1783. The sale of yesterday, which was at 182, shows a recovery of 31 per cent. within a week. There are indications that this stock may attain higher prices within the present week.

For Lincoln National Bank there was good bidding, but as there was no stock apparently for sale the price, 69 offered, was but nominal. Privately, this stock has sold for very much highe figures, and but few persons acquainted with the solid prosperity which this new banking enterprise has attained, will offer the stock for less than 80, with a paid in value of but $60.

A much firmer feeling prevailed yesterday in Graphophone stock. The terday in Graphophone stock. The first sale recorded was of 100 shares at 131. An offering of 50 shares at 181 was quickly accepted. The next 50, which were put forward with the expectation that it would hold the market at 13½, were as promptly taken. The final offering, which was of 40 shares, went also at 13½, after which but 50 shares were offered, at 14.

For more than a month a persistent effort has been made to raid grapho phone stock, and it is believed that oundreds of shares have been borrowed and put on the market in the attempt to register low quotations, apparently with the expectation that long stock would be forced on the market. For a few hours about ten days ago the stock stood below 13½, but in a brief period rallied to 151, when it was again attacked and artificially re-

Reports recently brought from the factory at Bridgeport by two independent visitors, who went to see for themselves how matters were progressing, are anything but reassuring for those who have gone short of the stock so recalessly.

One of the visitors, a practical engi-

Everything about the factory is arranged so as to produce the instruments with the least possible cost, and I am not surprised that high-priced mechanics have been discharged as was alleged as an argument for depressing the stock, for, as the machinery and tools are arranged. but little skill or experience needed to perform the work. The superintendent, a Mr. Russel of Washington, I found to be a man possessing high qualifications for the position he is filling. There is an average of twenty machines shipped daily. They go immediately to the sub-companies, and not to Mr. Lippencott's New York office, thus showing that the actual demand is equal to this number." This output, including a profit of 25 per cent. on the cost of production in addition to the $20 royalty, nets the Graph-ophone Company $500 per diem, besides a heavy revenue from the wax cyl-

> Tamagno's Make-Up. From the New York World.

Tamagno, the Salvini of song, is a great Otello, but he offends the highest taste in his "make-up." Othello was a mediæval Moor. He was not, according to comparative reasoning, a Zulu in appearance. Shakespeare makes Othello say: "Haply, for I am black and have not those soft parts of conversation that chamberers have." This does not mean that he looked like an exaggerated stovepipe any more than it does that he was dumb. The fact is that the Moors are and always have been rather delicate in feature, and in complexion not extremely dark. Signor Tamagno's Otello, grand from a vocal and histri-onic standpoint, could be improved by more conservatism in the use of burnt cork.

"Liver complaint and indigestion made my life a burden and came near ending my existence. Nothing that I took seemed to do any permanent good until I commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which has produced won-lerful results. Soon after commencing to take the Sarsaparilla I could see an improvement in my condition.
